TAKE a journey to discover yourself and the power behind universal love in Valerie Barrow's newest book.

The Moss Vale resident published her third book that engages with the spiritual journeys experienced by her husband and herself during their travels together in Europe and Egypt.

After being drawn to England, France and Egypt, the couple were re-acquainted with their past lives as they re-kindled their relationship with each other and with the spiritual universe.

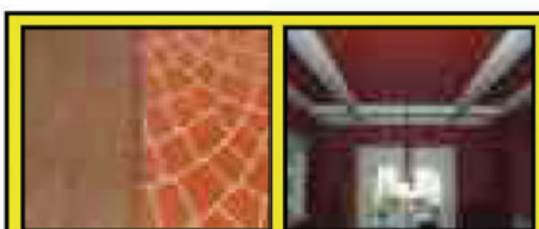

"It's a combination of our stories together that engage with our past lives together," Mrs Barrow said. The book titled Two Soulmates reflects on the journey Mrs Barrow took with her husband in 2010 and the callings she had from her spiritual mentors that took her on that journey.

"I had a prophetic dream where I was driving a huge road train off the coast of Australia, through the ocean and I came out with the train on the shores of Hong Kong," she said.

"This is exactly what's happened with my book. It started here in Australia and has ended up in the hands of publishers in Hong Kong."

After three years of writing and putting the book together, Mrs Barrow was rappy with the end result and the opportunities it has created for her.

Together, the couple view the book as a lesson about the universe, the soul, love and themselves and hope that readers achieve the same sense of fulfilment from it.

"It focuses on universal love, which makes it much more than just a love story and I hope that people understand and gain a sense of universal love from reading this book," Mrs Barrow said.

"It has been called historical fiction, but I believe that if it feels right and sounds right readers will accept it as truth."

Mr Barrow said "Two Soulmates can be described as getting to know yourself."
